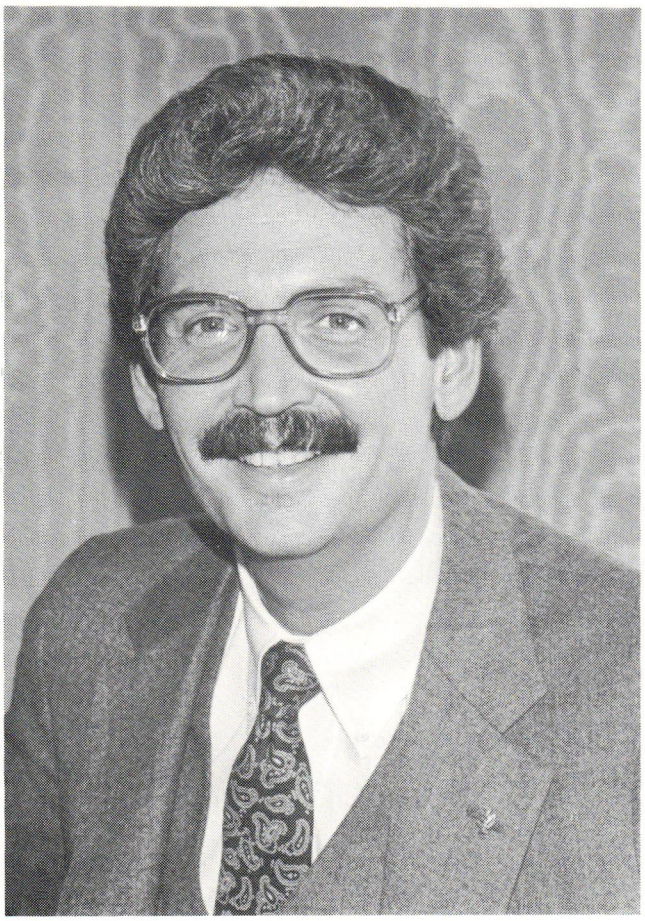
Commentary

From the President



Names, names, names ... what's in a name? The Index '82 issue of Indiana Architect is full of names; long names, short names, hard-to-spell names, even my name! Some names have letters after them, some don't. What's it all about, and who wants a list of names anyway?

The Indiana Society of Architects began years ago to produce a membership roster as a service to its members, so they could get to know one another better and communicate with each other. However, since publishing this roster in Indiana Architect began, some ten years ago, we've found that this annual issue is the most sought after, used, referenced and filed-by-the-phone by our readers of any issue we produce. Extra copies are printed for purchase by the public and they quickly sell out. Who wants these names? It seems just about everybody!

Perhaps the reason is simply that the ISA roster represents all of the registered architects in Indiana who are members of the American Institute of Architects and ISA. The letters AIA after an architect's name signify that he or she has been certified to practice architecture by a state licensing board (a requirement for membership in AIA), and that this architect has chosen to unite in fellowship with his peers through the AIA to "promote the artistic, scientific and practical efficiency of the profession." Those members who use the suffix FAIA have been recognized by the Institute as "Fellows" for their individual, significant contributions to the profession.

Additionally, the ISA roster includes associate members of the Institute who are employed in a professional or technical capacity by a licensed architect. This group includes architectural graduates serving the required three years apprenticeship toward their own licensure. Also, professional affiliates, who are non-architect registered professionals whose work is related to the practice of architecture, are listed. Finally, we include our special friends, the Emeritus members, who have reached the golden period of retirement.

Certainly the names in this Index are still very important to the membership of the ISA as we continually seek to carry forward the purposes of the AIA, and it is indeed gratifying to continue to find that our readership, the architectural consumer, recognizes the importance of these names and of the three letters, AIA, that follow them.

John S. Allen, AIA
President

Commentary

Correction

In "Book Review" by Christopher Peragine (Second Quarter '82) the second sentence of the first paragraph should have read "We understood" rather than "We understand." The word rectify in the third sentence of the second paragraph should be reify. The editor apologizes to Mr. Peragine and to Indiana Architect's readers for these inadvertent errors.

Pecsok advanced to College of Fellows

John G. Pecsok, a partner in Pecsok, Jelliffe & Randall, AIA Architects, Indianapolis, has been advanced to the College of Fellows by the American Institute of Architects. Advancement to the College of Fellows is the highest honor the AIA can bestow on any member, with the exception of the Gold Medal which may be presented to an architect from any nation. Pecsok is one of 17 Fellows from ISA. He has practiced architecture as a principal for over 25 years and has made significant contributions in religious architecture.

Fellowship in the AIA is conferred on members of 10 years' good standing who have made significant contributions to the advancement of the profession in such areas as architectural practice, construction, design, education, government or industry, historic preservation, literature, public service, research, service to the profession. Pecsok was one of 81 Fellows invested into the College of Fellows at the 1982 AIA National Convention in Honolulu.

IA places first in Indiana

Indiana Architect magazine and its editor, Katherine Stuart Ewing, received a first place award in black and white publications from The Woman's Press Club of Indiana. The award was presented at the Club's Annual Awards Banquet in April, 1982.

Editor's Note

The staff of Indiana Architect once again gratefully acknowledges the hours and hours of work devoted to preparation of this issue by the professional staff of the Indiana Society of Architects, AIA. Without their aid, there would be no Index '82.

Energy Management Ideas from Detroit Edison

Heat pump space conditioning can help lower the cost of doing business.

Whether you're an architect/designer or a contractor, you can help your clients lower their cost of doing business by specifying a heat pump space-heating system. You can connect a heat pump to most electric, gas, oil or L.P. forced-air heating systems with no, or minimal, modification.

A heat pump lowers costs because it moves the natural heat, that's always present in the outside air, inside to heat any kind of building. The heating system only has to go to work when the outside temperature is below freezing.

A Detroit Edison Specialist can give you straight answers on heat pump savings and recommend the kind of heat pump that will do the best job for any business. He can also recommend economical and efficient methods to improve interior and security lighting, assist you in selecting waste heat recovery equipment and advise you on maintenance schedules to keep all machinery operating more efficiently.

Whatever your business, energy management is a lot simpler when you can depend on a reliable power source. And you can in Southeastern Michigan because Detroit Edison provides this area with electricity that's more than 90 percent generated from abundant coal.

So take advantage of Detroit Edison's vast energy experience and set up an appointment with one of our Specialists soon. Call (313) 237-9228 or write Energy Management, Detroit Edison, 348 WCB, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

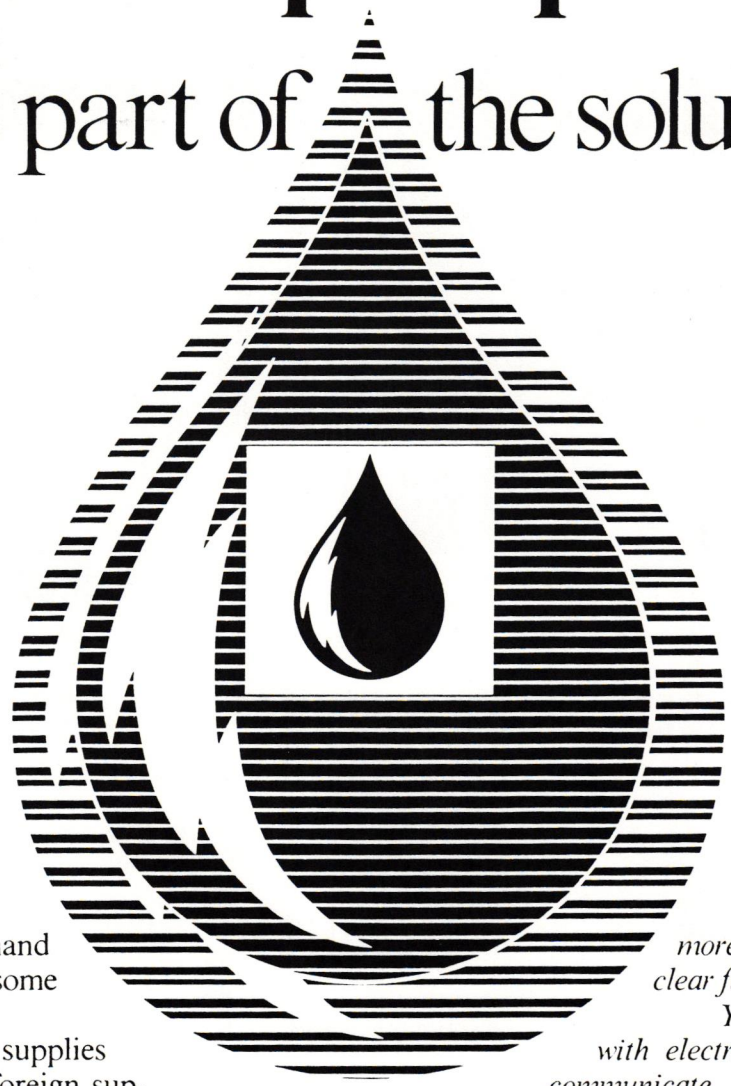
Electricity isn't part of the oil-import problem.

It's part of the solution.



Our insatiable demand for oil is demonstrating some basic economic principles.

Because domestic oil supplies are not meeting demand, foreign suppliers find themselves in a seller's market. As a result, they can increase prices without effective retaliation from buyers, and they're proceeding to do just that.

What's the answer? Common sense.

If there are no feasible alternatives to oil distillates for personal and commercial transportation, it would seem logical that transportation should be our primary use of oil products. All other present uses of oil should be shifted to some other fuel as rapidly as possible.

For example, it needn't be used to generate electricity.

The basic advantage of electricity is that it can be made from nearly any form of energy that contains enough power to drive a generator. And electric generation can be doubled in 15 years if we don't restrict more use of coal and nuclear fuel.

You can heat and cool with electricity, illuminate and communicate, mine, manufacture and process. And even now we are beginning to transport ourselves and our goods electrically. So if you're thinking of building or expanding your business, think electrically.

Talk over your plans and needs with a qualified electrical contractor. It makes good, common sense to do so.

ELECTRICITY.

We can make it from almost anything. And use it for almost everything.
